

Poem Excerpt from “Indescribable”

Please tell me about the day that I was born.

It was as if all the angels in heaven wept because they had you no more.

Their tears almost drowned us turning into a river that flooded the streets, carrying their cries and moans away from our bodies.

Mother will I feel you when you are gone?

Written By Stacy Thowe